First and Second and the Special Award Come to Grammar School Children in Wequonoc, West Chelsea and Central Districts.

Again this year Norwich ranks high ducted by the Connecticut Society of been received on Wednesday that three pupils in Norwich schools, including the first and second and the special prize. For a state contest this speaks well for the work of the Norwich pupils, all three winners being for a different district, which divides the honors well among the local schools. It is a contest in which many participate each year, but it is not new to have the prizes come here, as for years Norwich pupils have been found on the list of prize winners.

It is particularly pleasing not only to the pupils, but also to the teachers, that their pupils should be listed among the winners, and speaks well for the training they are receiving.

First Prize to Taftville Edwin Pollard of Taftville is teachers, as well as of his schoolmates upon his success in securing the first prize, $10 in gold in the prize essay contest of the Colonial Dames of Connecticut. The contest was open to all the grammar school pupils of the state, a choice of several subjects being allowed. Master Pollard wrote upon Old Colonial Post Roads and Mail Service.
